1. Objective

The objective of this policy is to establish clear guidelines governing the notice period applicable in cases of employee resignation or termination of employment. It aims to ensure a structured and seamless transition for both the employee and the organisation by facilitating the orderly handover of roles, responsibilities, and knowledge. This approach helps maintain business continuity while upholding professional and compliance standards during employee separation.

2. Eligibility

- 2.1. This policy is applicable for employees (on probation, part-time, retainers and full-time employees) working in India in Coforge Limited and its subsidiaries (this includes DPA, SF, Coforge Solution).

3. Disclaimer

- 3.1. The Company reserves the right to revoke or modify the policy at any time.

4. Details

- 4.1. The resignation will be considered only when it is formally submitted in iEngage, which will serve as an official record, triggering the start of the notice period and other relevant process' outlined in the company's policies.

The applicable notice period will be as follows: -

Categories	Notice Period
Trainees / Retainers / Outsourced employees	30 days
Retainers working for NIC (Notice Period as per contract)	60 days
Employees on Probation	90 days
Employees in Resource Pool	30 - 90 days *
All Regular employees	90 days

*Refer Deployable Pool Policy (India) for more details around Notice period applicability in this category.

- 4.2. Services are terminable either by the Company or by the employee by serving the notice period or payment in lieu of such notice. Employees are not automatically entitled to buy out their notice period. The Company may, at its sole and exclusive discretion, after considering various factors including the employee's length of service, performance, etc., permit an employee to buyout notice pay in full or in part in lieu of serving their notice period.
- 4.3. Employees who are on notice period are not entitled to take leave beyond the days entitled in the Leave Policy of the Company. This is to facilitate efficient knowledge transfer and handover of responsibilities. In the event an employee takes leave beyond the stipulated period, the Company reserves the sole right to extend their notice period, depending upon business requirements.
- 4.4. If the last working day for any employee falls on a Holiday or assigned non-working day i.e. Weekly off days, the releasing day shall be moved to the immediately preceding working day. In such cases the days due to such adjustment shall not be considered as "short service period" of notice. Any shortfall will neither be recoverable nor paid.

4.5. Post Resignation compensation –

- In cases where the Last Working Day falls after the 15th of the month, employees will be eligible to receive the full salary for the preceding month.
- In cases where the Last Working Day falls on or before the 15th of the month, employees will be eligible to receive only the wages for the preceding month.

The remaining salary will be processed with Full and Final Settlement.

Employees holding company assets or any other potential recovery, salary can be put on hold for longer duration during the notice period on case specific assessment.

- 4.6. The notice period once submitted and accepted shall be final and cannot be extended under any circumstances. In the event an employee wishes to continue with the organization after submitting a resignation, the only recourse available shall be a formal request for withdrawal of resignation, subject to the sole discretion and approval of the Company.
- 4.7. For employees governed by specific Service Agreements and/or any other contractual arrangements where the stipulated notice period exceeds that defined in this policy, the terms and conditions of such Agreements shall prevail. In such cases, the applicable Agreement shall override the provisions of this policy to the extent of the inconsistency.
- 4.8. Employee must refer to the service clause associated with the Schemes and Policies, including but not limited to Relocation and Transfer Allowance, Skill Certification Policy, HES Sponsorship Scheme, Sabbatical Scheme, etc. before availing the same.
- 4.9. Any payout as part of the hiring commitment, including but not restricted to Joining Bonus, any Retention Bonus, special bonus with service clause, Notice Buyout will be recovered, if the employee's last working day is before the completion of such service period.
- 4.10. If an employee resigns during the bond period, it will be mandatory for the employee to pay the bond amount before being relieved from the organization.
- 4.11. Variable component will be payable in accordance with the Variable compensation policy for any exiting employee
- 4.12. The Company may at its sole discretion, at any time before or during the notice period may ask an employee to remain on "garden leave". Salary and all other applicable benefits will continue during the same.
- 4.13. An employee must, where applicable, duly submit all time sheet before their last working day so as to facilitate full and final settlement. The Company reserves the right to withhold salary payments for days in respect of which the time sheet has not been submitted.

5. Determining Notice Pay

5.1. Notice Pay will be quantified as follows: -

- a) Payout of Notice period by Company: $\text{Monthly Gross} \times (12/365) \times \text{No. of days not served}$
- b) Recovery of Notice Period from Employee: $\text{Monthly Wages} \times (12/365) \times \text{No. of days not served}$
- c) Recovery of Notice Period from Trainees: $\text{Stipend} \times (12/365) \times \text{No. of days not served}$

Wages Definition:

Wages = "Remuneration" (CTC-VC-Insurance) – (HRA + LTA + Conv. Allow. + PF + ESIC + Statutory Bonus + Allowed Flexi components), subject to wages at minimum of 50% of Remuneration

6. Exception Handling

6.1. Any exception to the policy will be approved by India HR Head/Chief People Officer.
